Three Year Old Class

March 2014

Springtime is arriving this month and is filled with many activities. We continue to focus on our listening comprehension skills, fine motor skills and large motor skills. It's exciting to watch the progress and growth that the children have experienced this school year.

We will be very busy learning new songs, fingerplays and creative movements. Watch for our hands-on related crafts that will be coming home. The children are always happy and proud to display their artwork.

On Thursday, March 13th, our class will celebrate St. Patrick's Day with a variety of activities. We will try to catch the leprechaun and get his pot of gold! Wish us the "luck of the Irish".

If your child has a summer birthday and you would like to have him/her celebrate it in class, please plan to celebrate the birthday on your child's assigned snack day.

Listening comprehension skills keep improving. Our Barney the Bookworm has grown to an enormous length. The children are hopeful that Barney will grow around the room before the end of the school year.

Our classroom computer is a favorite. We have learned the importance of "taking turns" to share our computer. Creative art skills, discrimination skills and sequencing skills are just a few of the featured lessons.

During Lent our class will weekly join the other Ursuline students in a short prayer reflection in the atrium.
