

September 1-13 Newsletter

Hello Parents,

We had a great start to our School Year, even though the first couple weeks are transitional for all! We all seemed to have fun meeting our new friends and learning our class schedule of activities. You may find that I may do things a little differently than some of the other classrooms. My four year olds will sign their names in my classroom on paper rather than on a white board as I am sure you have all noticed, I like to keep all their papers so that I can keep track of their name writing progress. I also do centers for all three classes in my class room I do this to let the children rotate in groups so Mrs. Loney and I can teach two at a time, I feel when learning our content standards this is age appropriate. This gives each Child one on one instruction and helps with any struggles each individual child may have.

When dropping the Children off in the morning most of them should now be able to be dropped off at the door most of them know where their book bags go and where they are to put their snacks. There are still a few Children who are sad when being dropped off, but lingering in the room with the child does more harm than good. I promise all of you I am happy to say, that any children still in tears the tears stop 1 minute after the parent leaving.

Just a few reminders: Color days will be posted out side on the bulletin each week, the snacks should all be labeled and please limit one snack per child.

The first 2 Weeks we talked about School, Friends and Family, and this week we will start talking about the Fall. We are always doing hands on projects in this classroom if you don't find all of them in their book bags that would mean we are displaying them or are putting them in their portfolios. Next week we will be starting Student of the week for each class I will send home a note this week telling you who the All Star Students will be for each class. You may send in a picture of your child with their friends and Families.

I would like to thank all of you for making the first two weeks great, everyone was FANTASTIC !!!!!!!
